It Is Pleasure

To tell what Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me. I was troubled with neuralgia in my stomach and with dizziness and shortness of breath, also kidney and inward weakness. I wanted something that would be a permanent cure, so my husband thought I best that I try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before I had used one-half bottle I felt like a new person, and I am glad that I can say today that I have not had a bad spell since I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Formerly my health was so poor that I was not able to do my housework. Now I am perfectly well and hearty.

Whereas, J. B. McCloud, a citizen of Chariton county, Mo., has filed information with the court that Dan'l W. Carter, a citizen of Muscle Fork township, this county, is insane, and the court proceeding to hear the testimony in the case, doth adjudge the said Dan'l W. Carter to be of unsound mind, and a lunatic to be confined in the state lunatic asylum at St. Joseph, to undergo treatment there, and the court finding the said Dan'l W. Carter has not sufficient estate to defray his expenses at said asylum, it is therefore ordered by the court that he be maintained at said asylum as a charge against Chariton county; and it is further ordered that Dr. J. R. Gaines make a detailed statement of this case to be forwarded, with the said Dan'l W. Carter to said asylum, together with a request for his admission therein.

Who was, the following named persons, to-wit: Catherine Oldham, Cassie McCue and E. J. J. Hoxsie have been maintained at the state lunatic asylum, at St. Joseph, for a number of years at a large expense to this county, and it being the opinion of the superior intend of said asylum that the said parties are incurable, but might, with proper care, be removed from said asylum and taken care of at the county poor farm. It is therefore ordered that the sheriff of this county, return said parties from said asylum to this county to be maintained at the county poor farm.

Ordered that this court do now adjourn till November 7th, 1894.

Deputy Sheriff Woodson, says the Salisbury Press-Spectator, returned last Friday from Scott Station, W. Va., bringing with him the youngest son of Barney McNamee. The little fellow had been taken to that place by Mr. McNamee's divorced wife when she left this place some few weeks since. According to the conditions of the divorce obtained by Mrs. McNamee she had no right to the child and this is why Mr. McNamee sent an officer of the law after his child.

Clay Marsh, a young farmer, of near Triplett, is out in a card in the Bazaar soliciting correspondence with a red-headed young lady matrimonially inclined.

Another Carroll County Murder.

On Aug. 15th Oliver Godsey, of near Tina, shot and instantly killed one Wm. Rebbins, whom he found in a compromising position with his (Godsey's) sister. Again, on Aug. 22nd Samuel Shelton, a farmer living near Miami station, struck John Narnsen, a neighbor, on the head with a heavy pump handle, fracturing his skull in a terrible manner, predicting almost instant death.

And now once more, an "enterprising" citizen, Hawley Goins, maintains the homicidal reputation of the county, shooting and killing Constable Wm. Hall, of Hilltownship. It seems that Goins stole a horse from a farmer in the north-west part of the county a few days ago, and was arrested in Hilltownship by the sheriff of Livingston county Sept. 3. He was brought to Carroll county and turned over to Constable Hall Tuesday while Hall was preparing the papers committing Goins to the county jail he laid his pistol on the desk. Goins, realizing the advantage this gave him to escape, seized the weapon and shot Hall in the neck, killing him instantly. The murderer then turned the weapon on Hall's father and attempted to shoot him, but was prevented by Justice Runyan, who wrested the revolver from Goins.

Goins was fired on four times by Runyan as he escaped to the timber, one shot taking effect in his hand. Later a posse was organized and captured the horse thief and murderer. It was with difficulty that the infuriated populace was restrained from lynching him and that he was taken to Carrollton and safely lodged in jail.

These three murders are recorded in Carroll county in less than three weeks, two of which are, unquestionably, cold blooded, the murder of Samuel S. Shelton, and the murder of Hall by Goins.

The Salisbury division of the Chariton circuit court convened in adjourned session last Tuesday to try the case of James W. Garrett against the Wabash Railroad company. This is an action for personal injuries and for the killing of one horse and crippling another, which afterwards died, belonging to plain tiff. The accident occurred at a railroad crossing, in Salisbury, some time in 1892. The plaintiffs are represented by Crawley & Son, of Keytesville, and W. H. Bradley, of Salisbury, and the defendant by F. W. Leman, of St. Louis, Capt. J. C. Wallace, of Keytesville, and C. O. Hammond, of Salisbury. Yesterday morning Wm. S. Wright, one of the jurors, was taken ill, necessitating the continuance of the case until next January.

Davis' new livery stable, at Salisbury, is to be two stories high and 50x160 feet. When completed the structure will be a model of neatness and convenience as a livery, feed and sale stable, and will have a hustler from Huntsville in the person of Mr. Davis to run it.

Caddy Smith, a Brunswick negro boy, aged 13 years, got into a difficulty with Charlie Young, a 13-year-old white boy, in Finch's livery stable, at Brunswick, last Tuesday. Smith struck Young a lusty blow under the eye and on the side of the face from the effects of which Young was rendered unconscious and remained in a comatose condition for several hours. The negro fled, but was afterwards found and placed under arrest. The time set for his trial was not learned.

Sheriff J. E. Dempsey and E. P. Trent went to St. Joseph last Wednesday to take Dan'l W. Carter, of Muscle Fork township, who was adjudged insane by the county court last Tuesday, to the asylum. On their return they brought back Catherine Oldham, Cassie McCue and E. J. Hoxsie, three of this county's incurable insane patients, who were taken to the county poor farm by order of the county court.

Corn Raising.

William Glascock, who lives three miles north of Brunswick, is an acknowledged authority on corn culture among those who know him. For the benefit of some of our Keytesville wise acres who think they know everything about farming simply because they were born on a farm, and some of our farmer friends who have followed the business long enough to have learned better, we reproduce from the Brunswick chapter in the experience of Mr. Glascock in corn raising.

He also made another experiment in ploughing. For years he has done half ploughing for the corn of the next season. But he observed that the corn on ground ploughed the previous fall, fired worst. He also observed that it was always two or three weeks ahead in the spring. Here then was an advantage and a disadvantage. The fall-ploughed land was evidently the driest in the spring. How could he preserve its moisture till late in the season? After the corn had grown too big to be ploughed with a cultivator he ran through a part of it every week with a double-shovel plow, and thus kept the surface from baking. He thinks this kept the ground moist, but how or why cannot be shown. It has never been shown why stirring the ground when once it is clean seems to make better corn, but all good farmers say it does. In this case the experiment was very satisfactory. That part of the corn which was thus ploughed each week is by far heavier than the other right beside it which had the same advantages in every other way.

The daily papers have begun the publication of another serial scandal, in which Senator Stewart, Populist senator from Nevada, is the hero (?) and Mrs. Carrie Brady Glascock is the heroine (?). The senator charges conspiracy and black mail on the part of the Glascock woman and her husband. And the unnecessarily circumstantial detail of her misconduct the woman has given to the world through the press, adds weight to the charge. Mrs. Glascock has been sued for divorce by her husband, a worthless drunken vagabond who has earned but little for three years toward the support of his family or himself, according to his wife's statement. Thereupon, without logic, excuse or justification she gives in disgusting detail the story of her alleged betrayal and life of shame with the venerable senator. The entire story is exceeding gaudy and lacking in consistency. She proves herself entirely too willing and swift a witness. Only the most vile of women are willing to blazon their own shame to the world without some motive of revenge or gain. In this case both motives are lacking or are not made to appear.

CONGRESSMAN KILGORE and Paehall, of Texas, who voted for the unconditional repeal of the Sherman bullion purchasing clause, have been defeated in their respective districts for renomination. So mote it be.

The Democrats, of Alabama, nominated at their congressional candidates the same day—Sept. 4th. Geo. P. Harrison was nominated in Gov. elect Oates, District, and Mr. Wood was nominated in the 4th district are the only changes from the present delegation. All the nominees are staunch friends of silver with the exception of Clark in the First district.
